

Email from Management

We have observed a significant decrease in our profit margin across the portfolio, which we attribute primarily to the rising cost of goods sold (COGS), tariffs and other factors. Please review our portfolio across the 2023 – 2025 Orders data to make recommendation in our pricing strategy.

Tasks

- Look at how margins have changed from 2023 to 2025 across our product categories.
- Flag any products where the margin has dropped a lot or is sitting dangerously low right now.
- Which products need a price increase, and which ones might not be worth keeping.

Please Start on this ASAP.

Best,

Director of Operations, The Daily Grind